Venator celebrates industry recognition at CIA Awards

Pigment specialist shortlisted in four award categories

Wynyard, UK – 20 June 2025 – Venator, a leading global supplier of specialty chemicals and ingredients, was honored to be a finalist at the 2025 Chemical Industries Association (CIA) Awards, held last night in Leeds, UK. Venator was shortlisted in four award categories, including innovation, sustainability, unsung hero and company of the year.

While Venator didn't take home a win on the night, Venator's shortlisting recognition underscores the company's leadership and commitment to advancing excellence within the UK chemical sector through cutting-edge practices and responsible operations.

Bryan Snell, President and Chief Executive Officer of Venator, said: "Being shortlisted for these awards reflects our deep commitment to responsible growth and the remarkable talent we have at every level of our business. We're especially proud to be acknowledged in areas that speak to the core of who we are – sustainable, people-powered, and future-focused. We're thrilled to be part of an industry driving change and innovation. Congratulations to all nominees and winners and thank you to the team at the Chemical Industries Association!"

The four award categories Venator was shortlisted in were as follows:

- Innovation Award, for its industry-first TMP-free project, delivering a more sustainable and future-proof product range.
- Sustainability Award, recognising company-wide efforts including the company's V-PCF product carbon footprint tool, TMP-free innovation, and broader environmental initiatives.
- Nick Sturgeon Unsung Hero Award, celebrating Derrick Green, Logistics Operations Team Leader, for his outstanding commitment to EHS and operational excellence.
- Company of the Year, for demonstrating proven excellence across multiple domains and its ongoing commitment to sustainable business growth in the UK.

The CIA Awards celebrate companies that demonstrate exceptional performance in areas such as sustainability, health and safety, innovation, workforce development, and young talent. This recognition reflects Venator's continued focus on building a responsible, forward-thinking chemical business equipped for a more sustainable future.
